

Incognito: Familiar Faces, Hot New Talent, An Action Story That's Just Getting Started

Description

So, I finally got to see the trailer for ABS-CBN's new action-packed series, Incognito, and let me tell you, it's got me hooked! I've been searching for new Filipino TV series to watch for a while now, and the trailer definitely didn't disappoint.

Right off the bat, the action is intense. We're talking high-stakes missions, explosions, and some seriously impressive fight scenes. I'm already getting hyped just thinking about it! The trailer also gives us a glimpse of the diverse cast, there's some foreign talents and locations are outside the country too, and I'm excited to see how their characters will interact and develop throughout the series.

A Cast Of Familiar Faces And Then There's Maris Racal

Okay, so I checked out the cast for Incognito, and I'm kinda feeling old. I only recognized a few faces, and it's probably because I haven't really been watching Filipino TV series since college. I saw Daniel Padilla, Richard Gutierrez, Ian Veneracion, Raymond Bagatsing, Eddie Gutierrez, and Baron Geisler. They're all familiar, but I can't remember what shows they were in. It's been a long time!

I'm curious to see how they all work together in this series. It's going to be interesting to see what kind of characters they're playing and how their roles will develop. I'm hoping it's a good one.

But then, I saw Maris Racal. I'd never heard of her before, but there's a scene in the trailer where she's wearing some really revealing and sexy clothes. I got to admit, that got my attention! I did a quick search on her, and it turns out she's a pretty hot Filipina celeb. I'm definitely interested to see what she's all about in the series.

I did not forget searching about her on YouTube, and it seems like she's been involved in some cheating scandals. I'm not sure what the whole story is, but it definitely adds another layer of intrigue to her character. I'm curious to see how her past might play out in the series. Maybe she'll be the one to bring some drama to the show.

Stunning Visuals But The VFX Needs Work

I've been reminiscing about Filipino TV series from back in the day. I'm not sure if it's just nostalgia talking, but I remember a lot of them being...well, let's just say they weren't exactly visually stunning. But things have changed! Now, shows like Incognito are definitely more "eye candy," with higher production values and a more polished look. It's like they've finally caught up with the rest of the world in terms of visual quality.

However, there's one thing that still bugs me: the VFX. I'm not sure if it's the budget or the lack of skilled artists, but the CGI in Incognito just looks...off. It's really obvious it's CGI, and it takes me out of the moment. For example, the sparks the bullet colliding with metal, the dirt flying from bullet ricochets, the muzzle flashes, and the gun smoke all look very artificial. It's like they're trying to create these epic action sequences, but the VFX just isn't convincing enough. I hope they'll put more effort into making these effects look more seamless. It would really elevate the show to a whole new level.

Expect A Filipino Love Story Beyond The Action

The trailer also hints at a deeper story beyond the action. There's a sense of mystery and intrigue, and I'm curious to learn more about the characters' backstories and motivations. I'm also intrigued by the themes of redemption and resilience, which seem to be at the heart of the series.

Now, since this is a Filipino series, I'm making a prediction that along the way there will be some serious "love" drama. Filipinos love their love stories, and I'm betting Incognito will deliver. We're probably looking at love triangles, maybe some cheating, and definitely some relationship issues. It's all part of the Filipino telenovela experience.

And let's be real, who doesn't love a good love story? It adds another layer of complexity to the characters and their motivations. Maybe one of the characters is trying to redeem themselves through love, or maybe they're finding strength and resilience in the face of heartbreak. Whatever it is, I'm sure it will be a juicy storyline that keeps Filipinos hooked. I'm already picturing all the dramatic confrontations, tearful confessions, and passionate kisses. Very typical of every Filipino screenwriter.

To See Is To Believe

I'm a big fan of action series, and Incognito looks like it's going to be a real game-changer. The trailer has me hooked, and I can't wait to see how the story unfolds. I'm especially excited to see how the cast brings their characters to life, the action scenes looked intense so I'm assuming they had training or have been practicing for months to prepare for their roles.

Incognito is definitely on my watchlist, and I'm counting how many episodes I need to catch up if I'm impressed beyond what the trailer showcases. If you're a fan of action and drama, then you definitely need to check out the trailer for Incognito. I'm skeptical but let's see!
